“Discover Your Direction”

4-week program by Career Direction Space

Do you ever feel like you’re in the wrong movie at work?

You’ve built a solid career - you’re good at what you do, you’re earning well, and from the outside it looks like you’ve “made it.” But deep down, something feels off.
You’re no longer excited about what you do. You catch yourself thinking, “Is this really it?”

You know you want to change professionally, but you don’t know which direction to take.
And the idea of jumping into another job that doesn’t feel right? That’s even scarier!

If this sounds familiar - we are here to support you!

4 Weeks to Reconnect with Yourself And Identify Career Paths That Suit You

Before you decide what’s next, you first need to understand who you are today. This program helps you reconnect with yourself, understand your natural strengths, values, and motivations - and build a strong foundation for your next career chapter.

At the same time we will identify possible career options that fit your profile and start narrowing down your options.
